Japan's central bank shocks markets

In the 80's running into the 90's Japan was hailed as the major power house in banking and finance but that was then?

While the world is concentrating on china's economy, Japan who is still the world's 3rd largest economy has been quietly gaining pace in making a major impact in today's market place of world finance.

In October 2014 The Bank of Japan shocked global financial markets on Friday by expanding its massive stimulus spending in a stark admission that economic growth and inflation have not picked up as much as expected after a sales tax hike in April.

BOJ Governor Haruhiko Kuroda portrayed the board's tightly-split decision to buy more assets as a preemptive strike to keep policy on track, rather than an admission that his plan to reflate the long moribund-economy had derailed.

"It's clearly a big surprise given Kuroda's repeated insistence that policy was on track and assorted politicians have been warning about the negative side of a weak yen currency," said Sean Callow, a currency strategist at Westpac.

The jolt from the BOJ, which had been expected to maintain its level of asset purchases, came as the government signaled its readiness to ramp up spending to boost the economy and as the government pension fund, the world's largest, was set to increase purchases of domestic and foreign stocks.

"We decided to expand the quantitative and qualitative easing to ensure the early achievement of our price target," Kuroda told a news conference, reaffirming the BOJ's goal of pushing consumer price inflation to 2 percent next year.

Kuroda said the BOJ's easing was unrelated to major portfolio changes by the Government Pension Investment Fund (GPIF) also announced on Friday, but the effect of the day's two major decisions means that the central bank will step up its buying of Japanese government bonds, offsetting the giant pension fund's increased sales of them.

The BOJ's move stands in marked contrast with the Federal Reserve, which on Wednesday ended its own "quantitative easing," judging that the U.S. economy had recovered enough to dispense with the emergency flood of cash into its financial system.

The central bank also said it would triple its purchases of exchange-traded funds (ETFs) and real-estate investment trusts (REITs) and buy longer-dated debt, sending Tokyo shares soaring and prompting a sharp sell-off in the yen.

Kuroda said that while the economy continues to recover, plunging oil prices, slowing global growth and weak household spending after the tax hike were weighing on price growth.

London Hatton Garden jewellery heist?

A raid in London's jewellery district has affected the owners of many safe deposit boxes. For many years a major amount of colourful individuals has held their secrets and most treasured possession that includes valuable jewellery or crucial documents in the vaults strong rooms locked containers

One insurance expert estimated that thieves might have made off with diamonds worth hundreds and hundreds of millions of pounds which is recorded".

A Curtain inside Insurance Institutions added: 'This could end up being one of the biggest robberies of all time'

Jewellery designer Thelma West said: ' The Robbery at the biggest diamond safe deposits Bank in Hatton Garden over the Easter weekend leaves words. The loss is HUGE.'

Diamond jewelers expert Lewis Malka said: 'From what I understand it happened over the weekend and it looked like they had come in through the lift shaft and gone into the basement where the safety deposit is. 'Most of the people who use those safety deposits boxes are people in the diamond trade..

Police

Police may never find out who broke in an stole from all those safe deposit box's in Hatton Garden also some of the victims would not prefer to reveal what's their secret boxes contained.

Police said: 'The Flying Squad is investigating and detectives are currently at the scene. It appears that heavy cutting equipment has been used to get into a vault at the address, and nearly all of the safety deposit boxes have been broken into. Enquiries are ongoing.'

Officers checked nearby banks, including the one the thieves were in, but found no sign of break-ins, leaving the gang to flee with the contents of the safe deposit boxes.

Police were finally called at 8.10am yesterday when the theft was discovered and Scotland Yard dispatched the Flying Squad to the scene.

It is thought the gang also stole the hard drive containing CCTV footage of the raid, making them all the more difficult to trace.

Flying Squad Association chairman Barry Phillips told the newspaper there were only a 'handful of villains knocking about' who could have masterminded the Hatton Garden raid. Officers are still at the scene gathering forensic evidence.

In a statement, Scotland Yard said: "This is a slow and painstaking process involving forensic examination, photographing the scene and recovering exhibits in meticulous detail in order to preserve the evidence.

Kingsway Fire

The Wednesday's before Easter a fire erupted in Kingsway - just half a mile away from Hatton Garden and was still causing trouble for Londoners.

John O'Connor, A former top police officer claimed the robbers could be behind the Hatton Garden heist which started the major underground blaze that sparked a huge power cut over the London Easter weekend holiday, which also started major road works near the Hatton Garden Safety Deposit Bank. He also said "I've never heard of an outage of electricity like that causing a fire that lasted as long as that."That seems to me too much of a coincidence."

Another ex-policeman said he believes critical wiring may have been destroyed on purpose, leaving the vaults at the Hatton Garden Safety Deposit Ltd easier to access.

How they did it

The gang came in through the building's roof, but others think they may have hid in an upstairs office late on Thursday and waited to be locked in. They then used heavy cutting equipment to get through the 18in metal door. Alarms were disabled at Hatton Garden Safety Deposit Ltd and the raiders made off with jewels after breaking through a wall and abseiling down a lift shaft. The gang used heavy-duty industrial metal cutters to get into the metal security bars before disabling the alarm on the vault's main door which would have emitted large amounts of noise.

But when they reached the bank, their conversations over walkie talkies were picked up by ham radio enthusiast Robert Rowlands who lived nearby.

They then used heavy cutting equipment to get through the 18in metal door.

The mysterious world of safe deposit boxes

Safe deposit boxes are a throwback to the days when documents couldn't be registered electronically and people invested their savings in physical assets rather than property or intangible stocks.

There is still a demand for this type of service which can be evocative in the traditional sense, We all know safe deposit boxes can be stuffed with currency and hard commodities private documents even personal mementoes.

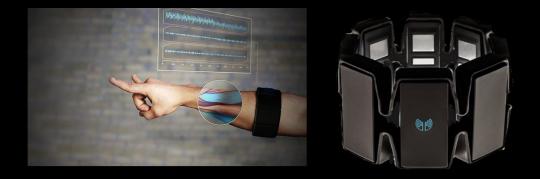

The security requirements are also onerous for banks for whom looking after the boxes is no longer part of their core business. At Secure Deposits, customers have to swipe an identity card at a reader, have their photo checked by a security guard, scan their fingerprint and pass through an airlock before entering an explosive-proof strongroom and opening their box with a key.

For most people who rent one, the contents of a typical safe deposit box will be far more mundane. But there's something about them that will always carry a mysterious allure.

The BT Smart Cam is a WiFi home video monitoring device capable of streaming and capturing footage in high definition.

Upon receiving the BT Smart Home Cam I was a little skeptical, despite having a very sleek design it didn't look too different from the average webcam, if maybe a bit bulkier. So I was curious as to what the device could really offer me as opposed to a much cheaper webcam.

Iranian Stocks Rally as Nuclear Deal May Signal Oil Output Boost

Iranian Stocks Rally as Nuclear Deal May Signal Oil Output Boost Stocks in Iran rallied following a preliminary deal on the country's nuclear program that may lead to the lifting of sanctions weighing on the economy and oil production.

The Tehran Stock Exchange's main index climbed 3.2 percent on Saturday to 67,827 by the close of trading, according to its website. Iran and six countries, including the U.S., agreed on a framework deal on April 2 for its nuclear program, with details to be worked out in a final accord in three months. Boosting output will be the first priority if embargoes are removed, Oil Minister Bijan Namdar Zanganeh said, according to the ministry's Shana news agency.

"There's a positive outlook after the nuclear understanding," Masoud Gholampour, an analyst and audit specialist at Novin Investment Bank in Tehran, said by phone. "It's very likely to have a really positive impact on companies' earnings-per-share. All stocks are being influenced right now by the psychological impact of the news, and the expectation that sanctions will be lifted."

Crowds gathered on Iran's streets to celebrate after the deal was announced following marathon talks this week, even as U.S. State Department spokeswoman Marie Harf said Friday the country wouldn't get any relief from economic sanctions until months after the deadline for sealing a final agreement.

Khalij Fars Petrochemical Co. rose 4 percent and Iran Telecommunications Co., which operates a mobile-phone network, climbed the same amount.

Expedite Development

Iran, which matched Kuwait as the third-biggest producer in the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries in March, could increase exports by 1 million barrels a day "within a few months" if sanctions are lifted, Zanganeh said on March 16.

The final nuclear agreement will pave the way for the Persian Gulf nation to restore its lost crudemarket share, the official Islamic Republic News Agency cited Hossein Zamaninia, deputy oil minister in charge of international and commercial affairs, as saying on Saturday. Iranian production exceeded 4 million barrels a day in 2008. In March, output was 2.85 million barrels a day, according to OPEC data compiled by Bloomberg.

Iran would also expedite development of three major oil fields it shares with Iraq, Zanganeh told state-run INN television.

U.S. and European sanctions have cut crude sales by more than half since they were tightened in mid-2012 to an average of 1.2 million barrels a day, according to a Feb. 10 report by the International Energy Agency.

Iranian Stocks Rally as Nuclear Deal May Signal Oil Output Boost

Rial Weakens

More oil exports "could add about $24 billion to $30 billion additional revenues for the country, significantly increasing currency flows, working capital and liquidity," Novin's Gholampour said. "It will have a domino effect throughout the economy."

In downtown Tehran, foreign-exchange traders on the unregulated market, where ordinary Iranians purchase U.S. currency at more expensive rates than those of the central bank, said the rial had weakened as the preliminary deal didn't ease dollar demand.

By Saturday afternoon, the rial depreciated 2.2 percent to 32,500 per dollar from morning rates, according to five traders, including Khosrow Abdi.

"People's eyes and ears may be on what's being said, but when it comes to what is actually going to happen, I have my eyes on three months' time," he said. "Whenever there's an American flag hanging on the old embassy, that's when you know it's a deal and not an understanding."

The U.S. Embassy in Tehran has been closed since 1979, when it was seized during the Iranian revolution, sparking a crisis in which U.S. hostages were held for more than a year.

What Are CONFLICT DIAMONDS?

What is a conflict diamond?

Conflict diamonds, also known as blood diamonds, war diamonds, or converted diamonds, are defined by the United Nations as "diamonds that originate from areas controlled by forces or factions opposed to legitimate and internationally recognized governments, and are used to fund military action in opposition to those governments..." Essentially, these diamonds are mined and sold in wartorn areas, with the profits used to fund violent rebellions.

Where do conflict diamonds come from?

The vast majority of conflict diamonds come from countries in southern and western Africa. The first reports of conflict diamonds were published in 1998 by Global Witness, and revealed the role that diamonds played in funding the rebels of the National Union for the Total Independence of Angola (UNITA) in their war against the government. Angola, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, and Sierra Leone are the most widely mentioned countries of origin for conflict diamonds, although other African countries including Côte d'Ivoire, Zimbabwe, and Liberia have also been involved in the practice.

What's being done about it?

In 2003, the UN established the Kimberley Process Certification Scheme (KPCS) to prevent the proliferation and sale of conflict diamonds. The diamond industry is very serious about self-policing at all levels of the supply chain. All major rough diamond producers, exporters, and importers are now members of the KPCS, and any diamond dealer who is found to be non-compliant is often blacklisted. Their reputation is severely damaged, and dealers and jewelers will be very hesitant to do business with them. Despite criticism, the Kimberley Process has been quite successful in increasing sales of legal diamonds and discouraging the trade of conflict diamonds.

How many conflict diamonds are out there?

Once a diamond is cut, it is very difficult to tell where it came from. However, the number of conflict diamonds in circulation has drastically decreased over the past twenty years. At the peak of the Sierra Leone conflict, it is estimated that conflict diamonds accounted for between 4% and 15% of the global diamond trade. Currently, the World Diamond Council claims that less than 1% of diamonds are conflict diamonds.

How can I make sure my diamond isn't a conflict diamond?

Some retailers, like Brilliant Earth, specialize in conflict-free diamonds. If a jeweler is compliant with the Kimberley Process, he or she should be able to show you a diamond's System of Warranties statement. You don't have to avoid all diamonds from Africa; in fact, many of these countries rely on the legal diamond trade to finance schools, infrastructure, and growth. When diamond shopping, ask the store owner about the process it uses to guarantee its diamonds are conflict-free. He or she

CONFLICT FREE DIAMONDS

Buying Diamonds In a Better World

The Kimberley Process was established to halt human rights abuses resulting from rebel groups using the profits of diamonds to fund their wars or coup d'états. Its 54 members come from 90 countries and account for almost 100% of the global trade in rough diamonds. The scheme was set up to ensure the international supply of diamonds didn't come from warlords. It has helped stem millions of dollars to would-be rebels.

About The New Format

Beginning January 2014, GIA's benchmark laboratory reports will have a new look. They'll contain the same trusted grading and identification data in an easier-to-read format. The reports will also contain enhanced security features and unique QR codes providing direct access to Report Check for quick report verification. The new reports consume less paper and other materials to help clients reduce their storage and postage costs.

Exchanging Reports for the Revised Format

The introduction of the revised format will not affect the validity of previously issued reports. If you'd still like to exchange your current report for one in the new format, GIA's Reissue Program offers a cost-effective way to do so.

Reports Qualifying for Reissue: Any prior version report dated on or after January 1, 2013. Reports dated prior to January 1, 2013 are subject to the standard update service and fees,

Reissue Fees:

Reports dated January 1, 2013 to June 30, 2013: $10 USD for Dossier; $15 USD for all other reports, Reports dated July 1, 2013 to December 31, 2013: No Charge

All requests for reissues at these special rates must be submitted by December 31, 2014, otherwise regular Update Service and corresponding fees apply.

How the Reissue Program works:

- Complete a Reissue Request form and submit along with your current report to any GIA laboratory or intake location worldwide
- You do not need to resubmit your gemstones
- Free shipping and handling
- Please allow up to 10 business days to process after report are received
- Reports issued in new format will carry the date of the original report
- If payment is required, you will be invoiced in the local currency of the lab where you submitted
- Reissue program expires December 31, 2014

Diamonds, from Pits to Depths

Several international mining corporations have established regional headquarters in Botswana and are looking for diamonds, uranium, gold and oil. Many have come back with positive results. Galane Gold Ltd announced that it has kicked off its first ore exploration from Tau underground in the northern part of the country.

Galane Gold or GG is a Toronto-based investment firm, an unhedged gold producer and explorer acting in mining operation and exploration in the Republic of Botswana. It is a publically traded company which is listed on both the TSX Venture Exchange and the Botswana Stock Exchange. Galane Gold has already had several extensive exhibitions in the management of mining and exploring programs.

"This gold exploration is an expected evolution in order to improve the company's performance," GG said. The firm contributes with senior professional employees, who are committed to respect the environment and the communities in which they work.

At the beginning, GG didn't have the intention to pursue the resource of gold in Tau through underground mining. It started the project in the fourth quarter of 2013 and has finished its forced portal entry at the bottom of the existing Tau pit and the installation of the entire infrastructure required for the exploration. The company has put a graphical presentation of the detailed mining plan on the reported resource to mine about 85,000 ounces of gold over the next three years.

Ravi Sood, the Chief executive officer of Galane Gold, stated, "This project is a major step in the evolution of the company both with regards to a change from open pit mining to underground mining and our plans to extend mine life through further exploration." He then added, "We have completed this project within six months and from our own operating cash-flows is a testament to the experienced management team that we have put in place."

Botswana is ranked as the best investment jurisdiction in Africa, according to World Bank Global Investment Benchmarking Report. According to the Fraser Institute Global survey of Mining Companies best African mining jurisdiction and the seventh best mining country globally. It also has a strong economic environment. In fact, Botswana is regarded as the best mining country in Africa. It has political stability and strong GDP growth. Its status as an English speaking country is why Multinational firms such as Galane Gold can operate on its ground. The Australian firm, Gallery Gold, however, has also its entire exploration of Gold in the country. The company's most prospect exploration was the Mupane Gold Mine which officially opened in February 2005, will produce approximately 100,000 ounces of gold per year. Apart from that, Botswana is an emerging mining powerhouse.
